

A true quick story, Last week I was getting ready to start the 1 hour drive to the airport to meet my girlfriend and pick her up from a return flight from Philly. As I was flipping thru the XM stations, I thought, why not check out the weather up north so I would have an idea of what her day might have been like. The traffic report came on, having knowledge of the area, I was listening to a report of a major tie up due to congestion and road work. something told me to hold up before heading to the airport. As it turned out, my girlfriend missed her flight, had to rebook for the next day, but most satisfying was the fact that I didn't waste 1/2 a tank of 2plus dollar a gallon gas, and lose the time, or become as agitated as a congressman when no one's listening !! XM radio has actually contributed to making the world a little more sane. Please allow the openmindedness of this next generation to prevail. nobody wants to steal the conglomerates hold on providing service, they want to enhance it. Thanks for listening BM s
